

Federal Fleet Policy Council (FEDFLEET)

Established in the spring of 1996, the Federal Fleet Policy Council (FEDFLEET) is a redesignation of a previous interagency committee, the Interagency Motor Equipment Management Council (IMEMC). It is composed of representatives and alternates from Federal agencies or activities, at the national level, that operate Federal motor vehicle fleets. These fleet managers are responsible for the management of the Government's nearly 600,000 vehicle fleet. Activities of the Council are directed by an elected steering committee composed of five members representing the following fleets: law enforcement, Department of Defense, civilian, small fleet, and large fleet. The Council provides an effective mechanism for coordinating Federal vehicle management programs and policies, reviewing new technologies and automated systems, and analyzing the impact of current and proposed regulations, laws, Executive Orders, and international agreements. FEDFLEET is the "vehicle" for Governmentwide liaison between Federal agencies, the private sector, and other governmental entities regarding vehicle management issues.

General Services Administration Office of Governmentwide Policy Vehicle Management Policy Division (MTV)

The Federal Vehicle Policy Division (MTV) serves, within the General Services Administration's Office of Governmentwide Policy, to develop Governmentwide policies that improve the management and enhance the performance of the motor vehicle fleets operated by Federal agencies. MTV, working with other Federal agencies, serves as a catalyst in the development, implementation, and evaluation of these policies reflecting a truly collaborative effort. The Division collects data on Governmentwide fleet operations, publishes the Federal Fleet Report, establishes motor vehicle safety programs, monitors agency compliance with mandated energy conservation programs, and develops Governmentwide benchmarks & performance measures for fleet comparisons. MTV also facilitates the activities of the FEDFLEET an interagency group of Federal fleet professionals.
